Dear Friend:

It is with extreme pleasure that Wounded Warrior Project (WWP) announces its support for Chris Cannon and Comics for Courage to benefit wounded service members through WWP.

Tens of thousands of troops have been wounded in recent conflicts, many of them suffering traumatic brain injuries, amputations, and severe burns. The mission of Wounded Warrior Project is to honor and empower wounded warriors. WWP provides unique and direct programs and services that ease the burdens of the wounded and their families, aid in the recovery process, and aid in the transition back to civilian life.

for Chris Cannon and Comics for Courage is committed to Wounded Warrior Project and the young men and women who benefit from WWP's programs and services. These service men and women give life and limb to protect our freedom, and for Chris Cannon and Comics for Courage recognizes and appreciates their sacrifices.

Only through the help of individuals who come together in their communities, can WWP continue to aid this generation, and those to come, with the comfort and support they need.

for Chris Cannon and Comics for Courage has permission from WWP to raise funds on our behalf. If you have any questions or need any further information, please contact me at (904) 296-7350 or by email at events@woundedwarriorproject.org

Thank you,

Dana Spencley

Dear Mr. Cannon:

Thank you for your interest and enthusiasm in conducting fundraising events to benefit America's VetDogs - the Veteran's K-9 Corps, Inc. Your efforts to help us to accomplish our mission are greatly appreciated, and we recognize that Comics for Courage intends to hold events to benefit America's VetDogs.

We appreciate your commitment to helping make a difference in the life of disabled veterans. At America's VetDogs, we consider it our obligation to provide, free of charge, the finest and most professionally trained assistance dogs in the nation. American military men and women have served our country with honor and integrity, and now it is our turn to serve them. With the support of donors like you VetDogs can continue to answer the call for our wounded heroes and provide them the support they deserve.

Please feel free to display or copy this letter to use as confirmation from America's VetDogs that your event is supported by America's VetDogs. We understand that any event using the America's VetDogs name or logo will at least in-part benefit and support America's VetDogs, and all donations made directly to America's VetDogs will be receipted. Please send copies of all promotion materials to our offices for review and approval.

We can supply information about our programs to have available at your events and we will be able to provide materials and banners as well. We will also include information about your event on www.vetdogs.org including your contact information for anyone who wishes to attend the events once the dates have been confirmed.

Thank you again for your support. Please have your donors and supporters contact me as below if they have any questions or would like more information about America's VetDogs - the Veteran's K-9 Corps, Inc. or our programs and services.

Sincerely,

Comics for Courage is comedy show managed by comedian, Christopher Cannon. As a veteran of the U.S. Army, he created the Comics for Courage Laff-a-thon to both raise funds for the Wound Warrior Project and to educate the public on the issues concerning our injured soldiers.

This AUSA member was one of the first rated acts during our AUSA 5th Region Meeting in La Crosse, WI this past spring. Comics for Courage is very versatile and has the flexibility to meet the needs of the target audience. Mr. Cannon has produced venues around the U.S.

Comics for Courage not only support the Wounded Warrior but also support various VFWs in the Mid-West. Please consider joining them in this great cause and have some laughs as well.

Contact Comics for Courage for some hilarious fun at your next event!

You may have heard about Comics for Courage, but in case you haven't; Comics for Courage is dedicated to educating the public on the reality of wounded service members and raising funds in support of the Wounded Warrior Project. One of the ways Comics for Courage does this is through Laff-A-Thons.

Comics for Courage Laff-A-Thon is a comedy event that is set up like a 10k run, the event features "laffers" instead of runners. Headlining the event is Christopher Cannon from Comedy Central along with Improv Comedian JJ Gordon. Christopher Cannon is a Vessey Chapter Member of AUSA and United States Army Veteran.

Reaching out to Wounded Warriors is nothing new for Christopher; he has produced successful shows around the country with venues and organization who believe in supporting Wounded Warriors. In addition to Comics for Courage Laff-A-Thons; Christopher is planning a future 5K and 10K running events to support soldiers.

We invite you to consider making Comics for Courage an event in your town. Hosting a Comics for Courage event is a great way to help and have fun at the same time. To learn more about Comics for Courage contact Christopher Cannon at 970-515-9450 or cannon@comicsforcourage.org or visit the website at www.comicsforcourage.org .
